

Ion Innovations' Website

Zach Shaffer

Ion Innovations is a Scientific Consulting & Instrumentation Design startup in Boone, owned by a physics professor at App State. After a summer internship at this startup, I was awarded a contract to develop their new site, which I could also use as my capstone project. The purpose of this site can be summarized as offering information for new clients and future employees, as well as providing access to company software and datasets for current clients.

<https://github.com/z-shaffer/z-shaffer.github.io>