

Getting to know a scholar: Joshua Jackson November 4 - November 10

Background: Joshua Jackson is from Wilmington, North Carolina. He attended Heide Trask High School in Rocky Point, NC, where he graduated in 2016. He is a Computer Science major, and his favorite subject is Astronomy. In his freetime, Joshua enjoys creating video games using Unity, C#, Blender, etc. He also enjoys going to concerts and spending time with family and friends. He chose his major “in order to learn skills that I could not seem to learn by myself prior to college.” As for choosing to attend Appalachian State University, “There are too many reasons to list for why I chose ASU. I love the mountains, the nice people, and college is a good opportunity to learn about life.”
