

Getting to Know a Scholar: 2/29-3/6/16

Morgan Short is from Grover, NC and attended Kings Mountain high school. She is an applied physics major with a concentration in astronomy. She enjoys playing quidditch, making fun of movies, reading comics, and doodling in her free time. After volunteering at a planetarium and writing a graduation paper on NASA funding she discovered her love of astronomy and physics. She chose ASU because of the ascetics of the location and small class sizes.
